Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Species I, including claims 1-9, relates to a method of content blocking in a digital audio radio comprises steps of selecting and choosing via different networks.

Species II, including claims 10-17, relates to a method of disabling at least a portion of one of a plurality of channel in a digital audio radio system which analyzing a broadcast information channel and/or electronic program guide for an indicate of content of the undesired type among a plural of channels.

Species III, including claims 18-21, relates to a digital audio capable of disabling at least a portion of a channel among a plurality of channel containing undesired content which selectively stores descriptor comprises location information that either received or calculated at the digital audio radio.

Species IV, including claims 22-26, relates to a digital audio capable of disabling at least a portion of a channel among a plurality of channel containing undesired content which transmits a indicate of the undesired content to a central station and programmed to disable the undesired content in the digital audio radio after receiving a signal over the air from a central station to the digital audio receiver.

Species V, including claims 27-28, relates to a method of content blocking in a digital audio radio received content and associated content code on a plurality of channel which has a plurality of memory.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, 1, 10, 18, 22, 27 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
